

PhD Lecturer, Department of Teacher Training, Specialised in the field of Philology, with a Doctor's Degree Diploma in English Stylistics. The academic specialization is in Teaching the English language as well as Teaching the methodology of TEFL by using currently-required approaches in research on teaching a foreign language, also interested in the impact of teacher education on pre-service English language teachers as well as in investigating global policies and practices in teaching any age-group of learners, ranging from (very) young learners to adults. Teacher accredited internationally with the TESOL Diploma (Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages).

My philosophy of teaching can be described in short as a philosophy of learning (teaching is not about what I know but what I enable others to do).
